How to Improve Vocabulary Fast

Your vocabulary refers to the words in a language you are familiar with. We should learn some ways to expand it.

Read every day. ①_____ Choose reading materials that are slightly above your level and keep a dictionary with you to look up words you do not know.

②_____ If you do not meet an unfamiliar word in your daily reading, use your dictionary to search for one.

Learn the correct definition and pronunciation for each new word. The pronunciation is as important as the definition because in order to add a word to your active vocabulary, you must be able to use it in speech.

Elaborate (详尽阐述) on the meaning of the word. If you have just learned the word "stubborn", think about the neighbor who will not lend you his car.

③_____

Use your new word in speech and in writing. E-mail your sister about how your cat is stubborn about sleeping on your pillow. ④_____ But the more you use it, the more fluent you will become in its use. Soon it will be a regular part of your active vocabulary.

Tell everyone you are trying to increase your vocabulary. Encourage them to ask you what your latest word is. ⑤_____ The more you explain the meaning of a word to someone, the more likely you are to remember it.

- A. Find a new word every day.
- B. The vocabulary can be increased.
- C. Your vocabulary contains the words you understand.
- D. The more often you read, the faster your vocabulary can grow.
- E. Or let them ask the definition of a new word you have used.
- F. The first time you use a new word in speech it may seem strange.
- G. Imagine him shaking his head, and think of him as "stubborn in his refusal".
