The Lantern Festival is the first significant festival after Chinese New Year. It falls on the 11 (fifteen) day of the first month of the lunar year.

The main activity during the Lantern Festival is looking at lanterns. Most cities will organize lantern shows 12 the evening of the festival, which add to the festive atmosphere. 13 (guess) riddles is also one of the most popular activities. Yuanxiao is the special food of the Lantern Festival. The round shape of Yuanxiao symbolises reunion, harmony, 14 happiness.

The Lantern Festival, 15 (know) as Chinese Valentine's Day, was especially attractive to the young in the past. In the old days, it was unusual that the girls 16 (allow) to leave their houses, except during the Lantern Festival 17 they could join the crowds, so the festival became a rare opportunity that only happened once a year for single people to find love while looking at lanterns. Chinese poets 18 (write) a lot of poems about the Lantern Festival since ancient times, which describe happy moments and also the stories of young lovers. However, in most parts of China today, the festival has lost these 19 (origin) meanings.

As a traditional Chinese festival, now the Lantern Festival is celebrated both in China and abroad, enjoying increasing 20 (popular).
